

Woodward & Lothrop

New York—WASHINGTON—Paris.

Store will close at 5:30 p. m. daily until further notice.

Beautiful French Lingerie For June Brides.

WE ARE displaying Superb Hand-made French Lingerie, embodying the most beautiful and exclusive effects imaginable. The attention of prospective June Brides and others who wish this class of fine undergarments is called to the following items, which represent unusual values.

French Hand-made Nainsook Nightgowns, high neck, three-quarter sleeves, yoke hand-embroidered in pretty floral sprays; neck and sleeves finished with dainty buttonhole edge.

Special price, $2.75.

French Hand-made Nainsook Nightgowns, square neck, kimono sleeves, yoke hand-embroidered in floral sprays and French knots; neck and sleeves finished with scalloped edge and eyelets run with pink or blue ribbon.

Special price, $4.25.

French Hand-made Nainsook Nightgowns, low round neck, short sleeves, hand-embroidered front; neck and sleeves finished with scalloped edge and eyelets run with pink or blue ribbon.

Special prices, $3.50, $4.50 and $5.00.

French Hand-made Sheer Nainsook Nightgowns, slip-over style, low round neck, short fluffy sleeves; richly hand-embroidered and trimmed with fine laces, pin tucks, and eyelets run with pink or blue ribbon.

Special prices, $10.00 to $18.50.

French Hand-made Nainsook Nightgowns, low round neck, short sleeves, hand-embroidered, finished with dainty scalloped edge, eyelets, and ribbon.

Special prices, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00.

Third floor—Eleventh st.

Special Sale of Women's Dainty Lace Braid Coats.

THESE little coats are very smart, and almost indispensable for the summer vacation outfit. Intended especially for wear with princess and thin summer dresses cool evenings in town and at the seashore and mountains.

We offer a lot of Stylish Lace Braid Coats at a very special price. They are in champagne, black, and white, and are made over good quality taffeta silk.

Special price, $7.50 each.
Regular price, $12.75 each.

Special Sale of Women's Dainty Lingerie Dresses.

VERY attractive collection of Lingerie Dresses, at a special price. White batiste and dimity, and light blue batiste. They are made princess style and elaborately trimmed with either French val or cluny laces. Skirts are full circular style, with tucks and rows of lace insertion. These dresses are very pretty for warm weather wear.

Special price, $7.50 each.
Regular price, $12.75 each.

Third floor—G st.

Lower Prices on Cotton Goods.

RADICAL reductions on the part of all the leading cotton manufacturers make it possible for us to quote prices that prevailed in early 1906. This applies to Bleached and Unbleached Sheetings, Sheets and Pillow Slips, Longcloths, Cambrics, &c.

We would suggest that this is a very favorable time to replenish the linen closet.

Linen Department Offers the Following:

Linen Pillow Slips, hemstitched, size 22½x36 inches, at $1.00 the pair.
Linen Sheets, hemstitched, size 2½x34 yards, at $5.00 the pair.
Pure Linen Tea Toweling, 17 inches wide, 10c the yard.
Hemmed Huckaback Towels, ready for use, at $1.20, $1.35, $1.50, $2.20, and $2.50 the dozen.

Special:

100 dozen "Old Bleach" Towels, hemstitched, $3.50 the dozen.
Former price, $4.00.
Second floor—Eleventh st.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Jurists and Diplomats Bound for Summer Homes.

GENERAL EXODUS OF OFFICIALS

Beverly Farms, the North Shore, and Bar Harbor Among the Popular Resorts—Many Go to Long Island. Newly Appointed German Embassy Attache Sails from Berlin.

Mr. Justice Holmes left yesterday to join Mrs. Holmes in their summer home, at Beverly Farms, Mass., one of the stately localities during the summer months, and well fitted for the dignity of the Supreme Court bench.

Mr. Justice and Mrs. Peckham have gone to their summer home, at Altamont, N. Y., where they will remain for the summer.

Mr. Justice Moody is now in his home, at Haverhill, Mass., where he will stay until he goes to the convention at Chicago.

Baron de Stael-Holstein, who has been recently appointed second secretary of the German embassy, to succeed Mr. von Radwitsch, sailed on Saturday from Berlin on the Kronprinzessin Cecilia for New York. The secretary will report here before proceeding to the summer embassy at Beverly Farms.

The German Ambassador, Baron Speck von Sternburg, who has been in Italy and France with the baroness, is expected to arrive in Berlin this week for a conference with his Emperor, and will then proceed to their splendid estate in Saxony, which has been the home of his family for many generations.

The Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Robert Bacon have closed their Washington residence and gone to their newly completed home at Westbury, L. I. This place is one of the most attractive homes of the Long Island millionaire colony.

The Chilean Minister and Mrs. Cruz have left Washington for a trip southward. They will spend some time in New York, and sail on June 18 for Mexico for a stay of three months.

The Naval Attache of the German Embassy and Mrs. Hebbinghaus will leave next Friday for the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, the Yellowstone Park, and the Pacific Coast, the trip occupying perhaps two months. They will soon arrive in summer and early fall at Bar Harbor, which will be with Manchester, on the North Shore, for popularity with the diplomats this year.

The Danish Minister, Mr. Constantin Brun, will leave to-day for Bar Harbor, where he will establish his summer legation.

The Minister from Nicaragua and Mrs. Corea and their small daughter will spend their summer at Deer Park, Md., instead of at the summer home of Mrs. Corea's mother, Mrs. Robert I. Fleming. Mrs. Fleming will spend her summer with them, as she has leased her country home, in Woodley Lane, for the season.

Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Mark Bristol, a bride and bridegroom of last week in Mobile, Ala., who are now on their wedding trip, will soon arrive in Newport, R. I., where the former will be in charge of the torpedo station this summer. Mrs. Bristol was formerly Mrs. Helen Moore Thomas, widow of Mr. Thomas Bailey Thomas and daughter of Mrs. Rittenhouse Moore, of Mobile. She is very well known in New York and Newport society.

The newly appointed Minister to Luxembourg and the Netherlands and Mrs. A. H. Despreux have been making a visit in Paris, and are now on their way to The Hague, where the minister will take up his duties at once. He was formerly Minister to the Argentine Republic.

Mrs. E. H. G. Slater, who is spending the summer abroad with Miss Gwynn, leased her Newport place, Hopewell, to Mr. and Mrs. Seth Barton French, who are now in their Hot Springs home, Barton Lodge, and will soon occupy it. Mrs. Walker Fearn, of this city, mother of Mrs. French, will spend the greater part of the summer with them. Mrs. Fearn has spent much time abroad, and since her return has employed almost all her time in the interest of establishing means for the blind people of this country to be self-supporting and independent along the lines which the Queen of Roumania has established in her country. Mrs. Fearn is a personal friend of the queen, known to the literary world as Carmen Sylva, and has made long visits to her in both the winter and the summer palaces. She has also aided her in her all-absorbing work for the eight-leaves, and grew interested and then enthusiastic over the great benefits such methods would be to the blind in this country. Mrs. Fearn made a long lecture last season in the interest of it, with rare and beautiful stereoscopic views of the king and queen and their homes and home life, and the colony for the blind established by the queen in a beautiful section of her country.

Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, wife of the governor of Virginia, who has been absent from Richmond a great part of the spring season, is spending several weeks in the gubernatorial mansion. She will, however, go to Hot Springs, Va., at the end of this week with the governor, who will attend the meeting of the Bankers' Association of Virginia there, and they will go later to Lexington, Va., for the finals of the Virginia Military Institute, where they will be the guests of Com.

mandant Nicholas on Institute Hill. A round of entertainments have been planned for them in both places.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Balfour Kerr, the latter the elder daughter of Rear Admiral Sigbee, have returned from their prolonged stay in Paris, and are at their country place on Long Island, where Mrs. Sigbee will spend some time with them during the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr are both artists, and have acquired fame as illustrators. They will remain in their pretty home on the Woodfield road, near Hempstead, L. I., until the late fall, and then return to Paris. Mrs. Kerr is well known in the Washington society, where she spent much time during her girlhood days.

Former Representative Henry Kirke Porter, a millionaire, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Porter, who recently purchased a permanent winter home in Washington, are now in New York, with the latter's daughter, Miss Hegeman. They will go to their summer place at Southampton, Long Island, in a few days, to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, whose three months' residence in Washington is still vividly remembered by society and the newspaper readers, has arranged a mammoth luncheon party for Tuesday, at West Point, visiting officers, and distinguished guests, and their wives, who will be at West Point for the closing exercises of the season. It will be given in the historic Fish estate, at Garrison-on-the-Hudson, where Mr. and Mrs. Fish spend their spring and fall seasons. Mr. and Mrs. Fish will not open their Newport place, Crossways, this year, but will sail for Europe on June 7, to spend the summer.

Representative and Mrs. Richmond Pearson Hobson and their small son have arrived in Newport, and will spend the summer at Bateman's. After the former gains a much-needed rest, he will start for the Middle West, to deliver a series of lectures on the navy. They will be the guests of honor at a luncheon to be given them on Tuesday by Commander Fullam, U. S. N., stationed there.

Miss Claire Frewen, daughter of Mr. Moreton Frewen, of New York, who was a guest in the British Embassy for some time this spring, was accounted the prettiest American girl presented at court in London last winter, and is abroad with her parents for the summer. She wore for her presentation a charming pink satin gown, with exquisite pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Keop, the latter formerly Miss Boardman, who have been visiting in London for some weeks, have gone to Paris, and will occupy their apartment in the Avenue Montaigne for some time. They spent the past winter in their recently completed home in Sheridan circle, in Washington, where they entertained handsomely throughout the winter season.

Capt. George T. Langhorne, U. S. A., who has been in the Philippines for some time, is now in London, and will leave for his home in New York, where he will be met by his brother, Mr. Marshall Langhorne, secretary of the United States Legation at Christiania, is with him.

Mr. Edmund Demer Rheem entertained at a stag dinner on Saturday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Rheem. Covers were laid for fourteen, and his guests were the members of the ball team of the Central High School, where he will be graduated this month. The table decorations were in the colors of the school, dark blue and white, and the principal, Mr. E. P. Wilson, was the guest of honor. Mr. Rheem recently returned from a tour of duty in the position of center field, and he has also made a reputation as a batter. He is one of the greatest enthusiasts among the amateur sportsmen, as was his father before him.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Braendle entertained a large number of literary, artistic, and official friends at their home in New Hampshire avenue on Saturday evening to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of their wedding. Miss Braendle was a party of her young friends assisted her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Braendle were married in St. Peter's Church, on Capitol Hill.

BIG MEN AT CHICAGO

Delegates Include Workers of National Repute.

CONGRESS WELL REPRESENTED

Senator Julius C. Burrows Will Lead Off the List as Temporary Chairman of the Convention—Each Candidate Represented by Friends Who Are Known to Whole Nation.

By ARTHUR J. DODGE.

There will be no less than fifty men of national prominence at the Chicago convention this year. Among the conspicuous ones, of course, will be the temporary chairman, who is already selected, being Senator Julius C. Burrows, of Michigan.

If the plan is carried out as already agreed upon, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, will be chairman. The Senate will be strongly represented in the organization of the convention. Prominent Republicans who have been influential in national affairs in the one House or the other of Congress, as well as distinguished public men and politicians, will be heard in the convention with nomination or seconding speeches for the various candidates.

Interest will center in the delegations from Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Illinois, on account of the candidacy of Secretary Taft, Gov. Hughes, Senator Knox, Vice President Fairbanks, and Speaker Cannon. The delegations from these States present a number of conspicuous men, and the composition of the delegations from some of these States is peculiar, if not unique, illustrating the changed conditions in political organizations in the different States as a result of realignment of the organizations of the party.

Big Four from Ohio.

The delegates-at-large from Ohio include Arthur I. Vorys, former Gov. Myron T. Herrick, and Charles P. Taft. Mr. Vorys has been active throughout the movement for Secretary Taft in the capacity of State manager for the Taft candidacy. Gov. Herrick has long been foremost in Ohio politics, and is known for his high standing in the ranks of the party in connection with currency and monetary legislation generally. Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, is a multi-millionaire, and is also a member of the Ohio delegation. He is a brother of Secretary Taft, and has shown his brotherly affection, as well as his capacity as a pocketbook, in promoting the candidacy of Ohio's illustrious son.

In the Ohio delegation will also be found George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, who earned the title of "Boss Cox" for his manipulation of party affairs in Cincinnati, and which at once became so objectionable as to call down upon Mr. Cox the opposition of the Federal administration, and a vigorous speech delivered in Cincinnati by Secretary Taft in opposition to the Cox regime.

Representative Theodore Burton, of Cleveland, is another delegate, who has been conspicuous in the Taft movement, and is expected to deliver the principal nominating speech for Secretary Taft.

Ellis Worked on Platform.

Wade Ellis, the attorney general of Ohio, is also a delegate, and is probably slated for a place on the committee on resolutions. He has been prominent in outlining the policies for the Taft movement, and has been a frequent visitor in Washington during the past two weeks consulting with the party leaders regarding the platform to be presented to the committee on resolutions for adoption. Gen. J. Warren Keifer is another Ohio delegate who has been a leader in the party in that State for many years, a former Speaker of the House of Representatives, and now a member of that body.

A number of New York's Republican leaders will be found in the delegation from that State, but those who have been most prominent in the party affairs of the Empire State, and who have not been named among the Big Four this year, both Senators Platt and Depey having been sent to the convention as district delegates from their home districts. The most prominent men among the delegates from New York are Steward L. Woodford and former Mayor Seth Low, who has recently been active in promoting Roosevelt policies in legislation pending before Congress. Benjamin R. Odell, long prominent in New York politics as chairman of the State central committee; Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and J. Stout Fassett, also a member of the House, are among the New York district delegates.

Parsons as a Delegate.

Herbert Parsons, also a member of the House, chairman of the Republican city committee of New York City, and the reputed manager of President Roosevelt's interests in New York, is a delegate, as is also Lucius N. Littauer, the glove manufacturer of Gloversville, who, also, is a close personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt. Another member of the delegation is Joseph W. Wadsworth, Jr., son of the former Congressman from that State, who was chosen as the speaker of the New York assembly last year.

The boomers of Senator Knox's candidacy in the convention will not count among their numbers as members of the Pennsylvania delegation many prominent public men. Senator Pennock was not sent as a delegate-at-large, but he goes to the convention as a district delegate, as does also John Dalzell, the Pittsburgh "stand-pat" member of the House, and Francis Burke, another member from the Pittsburgh region, who is a "split-binder," and who may deliver either a nominating or a seconding speech for Senator Knox.

All Chicago and the greater part of Illinois, including the "home people from Danville," the residence of Uncle Joe Cannon, will be out in full force to boost the boom of the popular Speaker for the Presidential nomination. It is not surprising to public men here that reports come from Chicago of the engagement of 250 rooms for Cannon enthusiasts.

Two Indiana Senators.

The interests of Vice President Fairbanks as a Presidential candidate will be especially looked after by the Indiana delegation, and among the Big Four from the State are Senators Beveridge and Hemenway and Gov. Frank Hanly, who is set down to make the nominating speech for Mr. Fairbanks. George Ade, the novelist and play writer, is a district delegate from the State.

The Mississippi Valley is certain to wield a tremendous power in the convention, and a number of notable men whose names are recognized throughout the country as potent in public affairs will be powerful factors. Candidate La Follette's State, Wisconsin, will have his colleague, Senator Stephenson, among the delegates-at-large; but former Senator Spooner, who was a delegate to the last two or three conventions from the State, will be missed.

Kansas sends her Senators, Long and Curtis, and among her district delegates is Cy Leland, for many years national committeeman, now a candidate for governor, and who is known to every prominent Republican politician in the United States.

A few other names of prominence will be heard in the roll calls of the convention. Leading men from all sections of the country will be active in shaping up the platform and making the nominations. Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, who has not missed a national convention since the civil war, will be there, as will also George A. Knight, of California, one of the Republican national convention who never fails to make himself heard by the auditors in the most remote corners of the great convention halls.

Senators Lodge and Crane, of Massachusetts, will be there as delegates-at-large, as will also former Secretary of the Navy John D. Long, of Massachusetts, who was the administration and Mark Hanna candidate for the Vice Presidency in the Philadelphia convention, when the West and Theodore Roosevelt carried off that nomination for New York.

Two Women Delegates.

There will be two women in the convention, as alternates for delegates-at-large from the State of Utah. It is an interesting as well as significant fact that these women are alternates for the United States Senators from Utah, who are among the delegates-at-large from that State.

The alternate for Reed Smoot, the United States Senator whose seat in the Senate was challenged on the ground that he was a Mormon, if not a polygamist, is Mrs. Lucy A. Clark, who hails from the Utah town of noted name, Brigham City. The alternate for Senator George Sutherland is Mrs. Susan Young Gates, of Provo.

BIG MEN AT CHICAGO

Delegates Include Workers of National Repute.

CONGRESS WELL REPRESENTED

Senator Julius C. Burrows Will Lead Off the List as Temporary Chairman of the Convention—Each Candidate Represented by Friends Who Are Known to Whole Nation.

By ARTHUR J. DODGE.

There will be no less than fifty men of national prominence at the Chicago convention this year. Among the conspicuous ones, of course, will be the temporary chairman, who is already selected, being Senator Julius C. Burrows, of Michigan.

If the plan is carried out as already agreed upon, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, will be chairman. The Senate will be strongly represented in the organization of the convention. Prominent Republicans who have been influential in national affairs in the one House or the other of Congress, as well as distinguished public men and politicians, will be heard in the convention with nomination or seconding speeches for the various candidates.

Interest will center in the delegations from Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Illinois, on account of the candidacy of Secretary Taft, Gov. Hughes, Senator Knox, Vice President Fairbanks, and Speaker Cannon. The delegations from these States present a number of conspicuous men, and the composition of the delegations from some of these States is peculiar, if not unique, illustrating the changed conditions in political organizations in the different States as a result of realignment of the organizations of the party.

Big Four from Ohio.

The delegates-at-large from Ohio include Arthur I. Vorys, former Gov. Myron T. Herrick, and Charles P. Taft. Mr. Vorys has been active throughout the movement for Secretary Taft in the capacity of State manager for the Taft candidacy. Gov. Herrick has long been foremost in Ohio politics, and is known for his high standing in the ranks of the party in connection with currency and monetary legislation generally. Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, is a multi-millionaire, and is also a member of the Ohio delegation. He is a brother of Secretary Taft, and has shown his brotherly affection, as well as his capacity as a pocketbook, in promoting the candidacy of Ohio's illustrious son.

In the Ohio delegation will also be found George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, who earned the title of "Boss Cox" for his manipulation of party affairs in Cincinnati, and which at once became so objectionable as to call down upon Mr. Cox the opposition of the Federal administration, and a vigorous speech delivered in Cincinnati by Secretary Taft in opposition to the Cox regime.

Representative Theodore Burton, of Cleveland, is another delegate, who has been conspicuous in the Taft movement, and is expected to deliver the principal nominating speech for Secretary Taft.

Ellis Worked on Platform.

Wade Ellis, the attorney general of Ohio, is also a delegate, and is probably slated for a place on the committee on resolutions. He has been prominent in outlining the policies for the Taft movement, and has been a frequent visitor in Washington during the past two weeks consulting with the party leaders regarding the platform to be presented to the committee on resolutions for adoption. Gen. J. Warren Keifer is another Ohio delegate who has been a leader in the party in that State for many years, a former Speaker of the House of Representatives, and now a member of that body.

A number of New York's Republican leaders will be found in the delegation from that State, but those who have been most prominent in the party affairs of the Empire State, and who have not been named among the Big Four this year, both Senators Platt and Depey having been sent to the convention as district delegates from their home districts. The most prominent men among the delegates from New York are Steward L. Woodford and former Mayor Seth Low, who has recently been active in promoting Roosevelt policies in legislation pending before Congress. Benjamin R. Odell, long prominent in New York politics as chairman of the State central committee; Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and J. Stout Fassett, also a member of the House, are among the New York district delegates.

Parsons as a Delegate.

Herbert Parsons, also a member of the House, chairman of the Republican city committee of New York City, and the reputed manager of President Roosevelt's interests in New York, is a delegate, as is also Lucius N. Littauer, the glove manufacturer of Gloversville, who, also, is a close personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt. Another member of the delegation is Joseph W. Wadsworth, Jr., son of the former Congressman from that State, who was chosen as the speaker of the New York assembly last year.

The boomers of Senator Knox's candidacy in the convention will not count among their numbers as members of the Pennsylvania delegation many prominent public men. Senator Pennock was not sent as a delegate-at-large, but he goes to the convention as a district delegate, as does also John Dalzell, the Pittsburgh "stand-pat" member of the House, and Francis Burke, another member from the Pittsburgh region, who is a "split-binder," and who may deliver either a nominating or a seconding speech for Senator Knox.

All Chicago and the greater part of Illinois, including the "home people from Danville," the residence of Uncle Joe Cannon, will be out in full force to boost the boom of the popular Speaker for the Presidential nomination. It is not surprising to public men here that reports come from Chicago of the engagement of 250 rooms for Cannon enthusiasts.

Two Indiana Senators.

The interests of Vice President Fairbanks as a Presidential candidate will be especially looked after by the Indiana delegation, and among the Big Four from the State are Senators Beveridge and Hemenway and Gov. Frank Hanly, who is set down to make the nominating speech for Mr. Fairbanks. George Ade, the novelist and play writer, is a district delegate from the State.

The Mississippi Valley is certain to wield a tremendous power in the convention, and a number of notable men whose names are recognized throughout the country as potent in public affairs will be powerful factors. Candidate La Follette's State, Wisconsin, will have his colleague, Senator Stephenson, among the delegates-at-large; but former Senator Spooner, who was a delegate to the last two or three conventions from the State, will be missed.

Kansas sends her Senators, Long and Curtis, and among her district delegates

is Cy Leland, for many years national committeeman, now a candidate for governor, and who is known to every prominent Republican politician in the United States.

A few other names of prominence will be heard in the roll calls of the convention. Leading men from all sections of the country will be active in shaping up the platform and making the nominations. Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, who has not missed a national convention since the civil war, will be there, as will also George A. Knight, of California, one of the Republican national convention who never fails to make himself heard by the auditors in the most remote corners of the great convention halls.

Senators Lodge and Crane, of Massachusetts, will be there as delegates-at-large, as will also former Secretary of the Navy John D. Long, of Massachusetts, who was the administration and Mark Hanna candidate for the Vice Presidency in the Philadelphia convention, when the West and Theodore Roosevelt carried off that nomination for New York.

Two Women Delegates.

There will be two women in the convention, as alternates for delegates-at-large from the State of Utah. It is an interesting as well as significant fact that these women are alternates for the United States Senators from Utah, who are among the delegates-at-large from that State.

The alternate for Reed Smoot, the United States Senator whose seat in the Senate was challenged on the ground that he was a Mormon, if not a polygamist, is Mrs. Lucy A. Clark, who hails from the Utah town of noted name, Brigham City. The alternate for Senator George Sutherland is Mrs. Susan Young Gates, of Provo.

BIG MEN AT CHICAGO

Delegates Include Workers of National Repute.

CONGRESS WELL REPRESENTED

Senator Julius C. Burrows Will Lead Off the List as Temporary Chairman of the Convention—Each Candidate Represented by Friends Who Are Known to Whole Nation.

By ARTHUR J. DODGE.

There will be no less than fifty men of national prominence at the Chicago convention this year. Among the conspicuous ones, of course, will be the temporary chairman, who is already selected, being Senator Julius C. Burrows, of Michigan.

If the plan is carried out as already agreed upon, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, will be chairman. The Senate will be strongly represented in the organization of the convention. Prominent Republicans who have been influential in national affairs in the one House or the other of Congress, as well as distinguished public men and politicians, will be heard in the convention with nomination or seconding speeches for the various candidates.

Interest will center in the delegations from Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Illinois, on account of the candidacy of Secretary Taft, Gov. Hughes, Senator Knox, Vice President Fairbanks, and Speaker Cannon. The delegations from these States present a number of conspicuous men, and the composition of the delegations from some of these States is peculiar, if not unique, illustrating the changed conditions in political organizations in the different States as a result of realignment of the organizations of the party.

Big Four from Ohio.

The delegates-at-large from Ohio include Arthur I. Vorys, former Gov. Myron T. Herrick, and Charles P. Taft. Mr. Vorys has been active throughout the movement for Secretary Taft in the capacity of State manager for the Taft candidacy. Gov. Herrick has long been foremost in Ohio politics, and is known for his high standing in the ranks of the party in connection with currency and monetary legislation generally. Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, is a multi-millionaire, and is also a member of the Ohio delegation. He is a brother of Secretary Taft, and has shown his brotherly affection, as well as his capacity as a pocketbook, in promoting the candidacy of Ohio's illustrious son.

In the Ohio delegation will also be found George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, who earned the title of "Boss Cox" for his manipulation of party affairs in Cincinnati, and which at once became so objectionable as to call down upon Mr. Cox the opposition of the Federal administration, and a vigorous speech delivered in Cincinnati by Secretary Taft in opposition to the Cox regime.

Representative Theodore Burton, of Cleveland, is another delegate, who has been conspicuous in the Taft movement, and is expected to deliver the principal nominating speech for Secretary Taft.

Ellis Worked on Platform.

Wade Ellis, the attorney general of Ohio, is also a delegate, and is probably slated for a place on the committee on resolutions. He has been prominent in outlining the policies for the Taft movement, and has been a frequent visitor in Washington during the past two weeks consulting with the party leaders regarding the platform to be presented to the committee on resolutions for adoption. Gen. J. Warren Keifer is another Ohio delegate who has been a leader in the party in that State for many years, a former Speaker of the House of Representatives, and now a member of that body.

A number of New York's Republican leaders will be found in the delegation from that State, but those who have been most prominent in the party affairs of the Empire State, and who have not been named among the Big Four this year, both Senators Platt and Depey having been sent to the convention as district delegates from their home districts. The most prominent men among the delegates from New York are Steward L. Woodford and former Mayor Seth Low, who has recently been active in promoting Roosevelt policies in legislation pending before Congress. Benjamin R. Odell, long prominent in New York politics as chairman of the State central committee; Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and J. Stout Fassett, also a member of the House, are among the New York district delegates.

Parsons as a Delegate.

Herbert Parsons, also a member of the House, chairman of the Republican city committee of New York City, and the reputed manager of President Roosevelt's interests in New York, is a delegate, as is also Lucius N. Littauer, the glove manufacturer of Gloversville, who, also, is a close personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt. Another member of the delegation is Joseph W. Wadsworth, Jr., son of the former Congressman from that State, who was chosen as the speaker of the New York assembly last year.

The boomers of Senator Knox's candidacy in the convention will not count among their numbers as members of the Pennsylvania delegation many prominent public men. Senator Pennock was not sent as a delegate-at-large, but he goes to the convention as a district delegate, as does also John Dalzell, the Pittsburgh "stand-pat" member of the House, and Francis Burke, another member from the Pittsburgh region, who is a "split-binder," and who may deliver either a nominating or a seconding speech for Senator Knox.

All Chicago and the greater part of Illinois